

Alexandra Postrigan, Dubai GEP Project Manager

With a Master's degree in International Economics and Management, Alexandra worked for the last seven years in the communication sector, mainly managing sustainable development projects. In 2011 she enriched her experience in human development at the United Nations Development Programme. During her experience managing projects in Europe, she collaborated with the ETF (European Training Foundation), an EU agency that aims to promote vocational training, jobs and qualifications. Her major responsibilities concerned project implementation and communication strategy in Eastern Europe, Northern Africa and Central Asia.

Alexandra spent her life between Russia and Italy. She finds her balance trekking in Aosta Valley mountains, reading Russian classical literature and practicing yoga.
